

LISTENING WELL

For Developing Friendships

Asking questions only gets us so far in building connections. The next step is to listen well. Feeling seen, heard, and valued are important to the foundation of friendships.

